"A Hope for the Future," Matt Catingub, composer

#healthcareworkers #covid19 #trumpet

I can connect music to personal experiences.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eR 7P5 7kh4&feature=youtu.be Composer Matt Catingub wrote "A Hope for the Future" as a tribute—to honor and thank—everyone around the world who is caring for us during the Covid-19 pandemic. (Catingub is also playing keyboard in this video.) Thirty-three of the world's most celebrated trumpet players, from fourteen countries, contributed to this performance.

- A. View and listen to this performance once or twice. What do you notice?
- B. Think about some of these questions, then view and listen again.
 - How do you think the composer and performers want you to feel when you listen to their performance?
 - What mood or feeling do you get as you listen to this piece?
 - Does the sound of the music match the title?
 - Notice some of the expressive musical elements Catingub used such as:
 Tempo Dynamics Articulation Melody Tonality Trumpet range
 - Do you know someone you might share music with, either this piece or something else?

C.	Think about your responses to the questions above, and free write for 5 minutes as you listen to the performance one more time.

